Dear Editor of CALL EJ.

I wish to submit an original research article entitled "The Utilization of Mobile-assisted Gamification for Vocabulary Learning: Its Efficacy and Perceived Benefits" for consideration by Computer-Assisted Language Learning - Electronic Journal (CALL-EJ).

I confirm that this work is original and has not been published, nor is it currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. I have no conflicts of interest to disclose either.

Thank you for your consideration of this manuscript.

Sincerely,

Rahmah Fithriani

Dear Dr. Rahmah Fithriani,

Thank you for your manuscript to CALL-EJ. Well-received.

The submitted manuscript for publication should be original and also it should not be under consideration for publication elsewhere.

All manuscripts go through a two-step review process.

1. Internal Review: The editors first review each manuscript to see if it meets the basic requirements and that it is of sufficient quality to merit external review. Manuscripts that do not meet these requirements are not sent out for further review. The internal review normally takes 2-3 weeks. Following the internal review, the authors are notified of the results.
2. External Review: Submissions that meet the basic requirements are then sent out for blind peer review. The external review normally takes approximately 4-6 weeks. Following the external review, the authors are sent copies of the external reviewers' comments and are notified of the decision.
3. If revisions are requested through the internal review and/or the external review, the revision cycles are limited to a maximum of two. If not accepted (or minor revision) after the second round, the manuscript is automatically rejected.

Please wait for a while to get the internal review result from us.

Best regards,

Kazunori Nozawa

Dear Dr. Rahmah Fithrianai,

Greeting from Japan. I hope all is well with you.

We looked at your manuscript (hereafter 21-11) and found that it was basically well written with the latest references. However, there is just one problem to be fixed before sending it to our next available reviewers.

p. 3 - Zain & Bowles, 2021) is not found in the References.

Please use the attached Word file to revise it without changing the format and resubmit the revised file to me in two weeks.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Best regards,

Dear Dr. Rahmah Fithriani,

Thank you for your message.

I already sent you the result on April 25 so it should be reached you since it was not bounced back to me. I haven't received your revised files by now. So I was wondering why you didn't resubmit the revised manuscript. After receiving the revised manuscript as required, we will recheck the files and then have to ask the original reviewers to recheck again before making the final decision.

You must act quickly and accurately for the revision and resubmit the files to me.

Thank you for your cooperation.

件名: Review result of your manuscript (21-11) to CALL-EJ

Dear Prof. Rahmah Fithriani,

Greetings from Japan. I hope all is well with you.

Thank you for your waiting. We finally received the review results. We would like you to read the following comments by the reviewers and revise the manuscript without changing the style and resubmit the final version to us by the deadline.

<Reviewer 1>

Introduction

The introduction is a bit long and reads more like a literature review. I feel like it could be half the length and discuss your study more. Your study only gets a brief mention at the end of the introduction, and I am none the wiser as to the contents of the study after reading it.

Lit review

The digital native/immigrant statement needs a bit more work. Since 2001 many studies have actually dismissed this idea, and while it is fine to follow Prensky I think there needs to be mention of the opposing arguments.

“Arguably, one of the most popular approaches in integrating educational technology to language learning is digital game-based learning (DGBL). In addition to the prevalence of digital gaming as a leisure activity, in the past few years, digital games have also been integrated in classroom practices for language education (Yang et al, 2020)”

“Arguably” Very much so. There is a lot of resistance to DGBL which doesn’t appear here.

“Past few years” More like the last couple of decades

“Arguably” Very much so. There is a lot of resistance to DGBL which doesn’t appear here.

“Past few years” More like the last couple of decades

DGBL v Gamification You seem to be mixing the two a bit here. I think you should highlight the differences between the two.

Again, you only seem to reflect on the positives. This makes it seem like DGBL is the magic pill to all language learning issues. Please make the literature review a more balanced reflection of the current literature.

Raitskaya & Tikhonova., 2019 – no period needed

(Wright et al., 2005) – very old reference. A lot more has happened since 2005

“Most of these studies have reported positive findings favoring the adoption of gamification for vocabulary learning in different EFL settings such as China, Taiwan, Korea, Saudi Arabia, Thailand, and Indonesia”. – again switching between DGBL and gamification

Quizlet – is not a game

Baicizhan – is not a game. At best it is an educational language learning application that has game like drills

Li, R., Meng, Z., Tian, M., Zhang, Z., & Xiao, W. (2019) doi doesn’t work

By this point in the lit review, I am very confused. Are we talking about the gamification of DGBL?

Quizlet then Quizlet® - be consistent

The English in the final paragraph is a bit awkward. “To put it in other words, there were rare studies” I can understand what you are trying to say, but I think you need to have a native speaker edit this entire paragraph.

Method

Participants

Did they volunteer for this research?

Did they sign a consent form?

What would happen if a student decided they did not want to participate?

Data analysis

Finally – why italic?

analyzed with computer software – which one?

Rest of the paper

You keep referring to gamification and don't mention game-based learning again. I think you need to rework the lit review considering this.

<Reviewer 2>

This article provides a detailed review of game-based research and the authors have conducted a reliable study that would make a good contribution to our field if published. Some typos have been highlighted in the article through track changes and some suggestions have been made for rephrasing some parts. However, some changes may be due to differences in the varieties of English we use so please ignore anything that falls into that category. Thank you for sharing your valuable study.

Please submit the files (one clean copy, one with traffic change records, and the author response form) by May 25 or earlier if possible.

Thank you for your cooperation.
