

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the research findings of this study, which was carried out in the English Department of State Islamic University of North Sumatera it was found that the 8th semester students were able and reasonable in writing argumentative. The results of this study found that 45% of students were able in writing argumentative essay, 45% of students were reasonable in writing argumentative essay, while 10% were unable in writing argumentative essay. This study concentrated on the argumentative essay's structure, or the elements of writing like the introduction, the body paragraphs, the conclusion, and the language features. Where H_a was accepted and H_0 was rejected because the results of the analysis found that the score of students was 20-11.

5.2 Suggestion

Following the discussion of the results and drawing of conclusions, the following recommendations were made for the English Department students at State Islamic University of North Sumatera, the lecturers', and the following researcher:

1) For the students

Students must develop their writing abilities by engaging in a variety of argumentative essay writing tasks. The researcher advised the students to enhance their abilities in reading, speaking, and listening in addition to writing. By developing other people's skills, they will expand the scope of their writing and finish developing their English-language proficiency.

2) For the lecturers

Although the lecturers made a considerable effort to ensure that her students understood how to write argumentative essays, several of them still struggled with the task. The difficulties that students previously experienced as well as their shortcomings were discovered by the researcher. The lecturers could grow and enhance her methods of teaching and learning by reading this thesis. She could engage the students' interest in the subject matter and increase their motivation.

3) For more researchers

In order to help students who received fair or low grades improve their argumentative essay writing skills, future argumentative essay researchers would do better to solve problems and come up with good solutions for them.