1. For the students

Students should study translation more in English class, especially students who get lower grades, practice more, try harder to overcome students' weaknesses and discuss with English teachers, friends or other people who can help students. And also advice for all students, don't stop learning translation, keep practicing and improve students' translation skills and skills because if students can translate accurately, students will feel that English is easy and not difficult.

2. For the English teacher

To the English teachers, that they should emphasize the ability of teaching and learning translation so that students can improve their translation skills, especially in translating English text into Indonesian text and vice versa. Thus, students can reduce their mistakes, especially in grammatical translation and knowledge of vocabulary.
